

Johnston Beats Murray---Resolute Leaves Rivals Far Behind--Hard Day on Veteran Golfers

CALIFORNIANS CLASH FIRST TIME IN EAST

Murray Succumbs to Johnston in Bitter Match of Two Extra Game Sets.

SEMI-FINAL ROUND TO-DAY

Westerner to Meet Behr and Hackett Is Opponent of Williams.

Harold H. Hackett and Karl H. Behr of the West Side Tennis Club, Richard Norris Williams 2d of Philadelphia and William M. Johnston of California reached the semi-final round in the Davis cup tennis tournament on the grass courts of the Westchester Country Club yesterday.

Of the four men who came through three have been members of former international teams, while the other one, Johnston, is a prospective member of this year's defending quartet. Behr played in the international matches in 1912, while Hackett and Williams were members of last year's team. In the semi-finals, which will be played to-day at 3 o'clock, Hackett will meet Williams in the upper half and Johnston will compete with Behr in the lower half. The winners will play in the final round to-morrow afternoon.

The feature match of the day was that between Johnston and Robert Lindley Murray in the third round. It was the first time that two Californians have come against one another on the same court in the East this year, and they drew a big gallery, for every one was anxious to see how the two Western youngsters would do battle. Although Johnston was rated first on the Pacific coast last year and Murray only fifth, there were many who thought that the Stanford boy would have a good chance of winning, for eastern players have been long known to become acclimated, while Johnston has not had even time enough to get any practice.

Johnston, who won the New York State championship and the Longwood trophy when he invaded the East last year, made a brilliant start and won the first two games of the opening set, allowing Murray only one point in each. When he was winning three games to one, Johnston, who had been playing at a level when he invaded the East last year, made a brilliant start and won the first two games of the opening set, allowing Murray only one point in each. When he was winning three games to one, Johnston, who had been playing at a level when he invaded the East last year, made a brilliant start and won the first two games of the opening set, allowing Murray only one point in each.

After losing the sixth game the young collegian came up to the net frequently and in his desire to show his skill he began to shake off most of his rivals' returns and thereby took two games and looked to have the set stowed away with the score 3-2 in his favor. Johnston, who had been playing at a level when he invaded the East last year, made a brilliant start and won the first two games of the opening set, allowing Murray only one point in each. When he was winning three games to one, Johnston, who had been playing at a level when he invaded the East last year, made a brilliant start and won the first two games of the opening set, allowing Murray only one point in each.

In the second set Johnston took the lead at 3-1 and then, feeling his advantage quite safe, he began to relax. He was outplayed in the eighth and ninth games and the set, which he had won by a margin of 3-2, was now 2-2. Johnston, who had been playing at a level when he invaded the East last year, made a brilliant start and won the first two games of the opening set, allowing Murray only one point in each. RESOLUTE IS VICTOR

IN OVER HALF HOUR Has 32 Minutes and 10 Seconds to Spare in Actual Racing Time.

DEFIANCE DOESN'T FINISH

Big Vanitie Helpless in Light Air and Rolling Sea, by Far Worst Off of All Three.

Newport, July 10.—The Resolute drifted around a triangle of thirty miles to-day and administered a most disgraceful beating to the Vanitie and Defiance. It was the first race of the series arranged by the New York Yacht Club. At times during the day it looked as if there would be no race because the yachts would have trouble to finish within the time limit of six hours, but after turning the second mark the wind increased somewhat in strength and the Resolute was able to get home after sailing thirty miles in 5 hours 32 minutes and 10 seconds. She had beaten the Vanitie 31 minutes 21 seconds actual time. The Defiance was 32 minutes 19 seconds astern at the second mark and she did not finish the race.

The preparatory signal was made at 12:15 o'clock, and the yachts, after sending up small jib topsails, began to make headway for position at the start. The line of yachts was headed by the Resolute at the eastern end, and all three reached the west. The Defiance kept closer to the line, but the Vanitie and Resolute, disregarding the other yacht, had a nice little scrap to the westward of the line.

Shortly before the starting signal at 12:30 all three broke out their topsails. That on the Defiance was a very small one, and was the last to be hoisted. The Vanitie was a No. 2. All three were heading for the line on the starboard tack, but the Defiance was the last to reach the line, and when the signal came she hauled her wind and crossed about the middle of the line at 12:30:25. The Vanitie then closed up and crossed at 12:30:33. The Resolute, still loitering, crossed in the Vanitie's wake at 12:31:22.

The Vanitie took the port tack as soon as she was over the line and held it for the southwest, while the Resolute held the starboard tack, and then all three yachts were heading southeast with the Vanitie in the windward position. The Resolute set sail after the Defiance, and very soon she had drawn ahead of the Vanitie. The Defiance, having outlasted the Vanitie, but as she feared that yacht she was forced to tack again, as she could not cross her.

BYRN MAWR FOUR DEFEATED.

Great Neck Team Delivers Stunning Reverse to Visitors.

Cedarhurst, L. I., July 10.—The C. C. T. polo team scored an easy victory this afternoon over the Bryn Mawr quartet in the third match for the Blizard cup, played on the field of the Rockaway Hunting Club. The score was 13-4, and marked a stunning reverse for the Bryn Mawr team, which had easily defeated Piping Rock in the first game of the tournament on Wednesday.

C. C. T. Rumsey and J. Watson Webb were the chief scorers for the winners, the former accounting for five goals, while Webb had one less to his credit. The ponies of the Great Neck players were faster and handier than the Bryn Mawr mounts and aided considerably in running up the big total. The Bryn Mawr team was changed slightly from the one that defeated Piping Rock, and in consequence it received two goals handicap from the Long Islanders. The lineup:

Great Neck: No. 1, Elliot Bacon; No. 2, J. Watson Webb; No. 3, C. C. Rumsey; No. 4, back, N. L. Tupper. Bryn Mawr: No. 1, back, W. L. Stokes; No. 2, M. G. Rosenbaum; No. 3, back, Alex. Brown; No. 4, back, Alex. Brown. Referee—George A. Miller. Time—Robert Hunter.

Yonkers Handicap Feature of Inaugural—Meet Continues Until July 30.

Racing will open this afternoon at the Empire City track and will continue until July 30, when New Yorkers will see the last of the sport until the thoroughbreds return from a month's sojourn at Saratoga. The meeting will be conducted by the Empire City Racing Association, of which James Butler is president, and the track will be open to the public.

Many new horses are on here from the West and some of these will be brought out this afternoon, though those carded for to-day, with the exception of Black Hawk, are all newcomers. The track is being frequently at Belmont and Aqueduct. Rock View has declined the issue for the big event and this leaves Harry Payne Whitney's Horrow to divide the honor of top weight with C. H. Robinson's Bunkin, the winner of the Metropolitan Handicap. They are asked to carry 121 pounds over a distance of a mile and a sixteenth.

The better stayer, but he has been eased in his work because of lameness since his Metropolitan victory. Bunkin, the Brooklyn Handicap winner, will start with 120 pounds, the same weight being assigned to Ten Point, a horse which may find the distance too far. Meridian has shown great speed in his recent races, but also has exhibited a disposition to stop. Labore has been working in fast time and will be very dangerous if he does not sulk. Black Tony, the Western representative, is in with 109 pounds, and the lightest weight will be carried by H. C. Hagenbeck's Uncle Sam.

The track and buildings have been thoroughly overhauled and put in the best possible condition for the first race, which will be started at 2:30. The courses may be reached by special trains leaving the Grand Central Station at 12:08, 12:54, 1:41 and 1:29 P. M. Another way to reach the track is by the Broadway branch of the subway to 29th street, and thence by trolley. Passengers by the Sixth and Ninth avenue trolley at 165th street. The entries follow:

YOUNG GOLFERS HAVE CUP BETWEEN THEM

Sleepy Hollow Survivors All Classed as Belonging to Younger Set.

BABY OF THEM ALL IS OUT

SCARSDALE, N. Y., July 10.—The younger golfers had everything their own way in the first division of the invitation tournament of the Sleepy Hollow Golf Club to-day, and every one of the four who will play in the semi-final round to-morrow morning is ranked as a youngster. Max Marston, Balfour, F. W. Dyer, Montclair; W. F. Purcell, New York Golf, and J. N. Stearns 3d, Princeton, are the four survivors. Marston beats Dyer, while Purcell will play Stearns in the morning, and the two winners will come together in the eighteen hole finish in the afternoon.

Clifford A. Dunning, winner of the medal in the qualifying round, Dwight Part, Jr., D. H. McAlpin 2d and Percy R. Pyne 2d all went by the board in the first match round this morning, and of the supposedly good ones who survived the morning play C. E. Van Vleet, Jr., and Philip Carter were eliminated in the afternoon. Carter, however, belongs to the youngsters' division himself, as does R. M. Lewis, who also was beaten in the afternoon.

Lewis, who plays from the Ridgfield (Connecticut) Golf Club, rather surprised the spectators in the morning when he disposed of Percy R. Pyne 2d, a veteran of innumerable tournaments. Lewis won by 3 up and 2 to play.

Another morning match that attracted a great deal of attention was that between Max R. Marston and Dwight Part. It did not bring forth any especially good golf, but it was a close one. Marston gained an advantage on the earlier holes and at the turn was 2 up.

Coming in they were all square at the home hole, Partidge playing some brilliant golf. On the eleventh hole he jumped a stygian when Marston's ball hung on the lip of the cup, and the shot saved him from losing the hole. Partidge threw Marston's ball down the extra hole by getting bunkered.

The defeat of Philip Carter in the second round by W. F. Purcell was the surprise of the afternoon. The first of his species to figure prominently in a Metropolitan tourney in a long time—surprised himself now and then. After getting a lead of two holes on the first hole, he lost the match by 4 up and 2 to play.

That left Carter in a pretty hard position, and although he did his best, he could not pull the match out of the fire. He did cut Purcell's lead down to one by the time the thirteenth was reached, but on that hole the left hander holed a long putt for another 2 and was two holes ahead once more. He took the next two holes and by 4 up and 2 to play.

The hole was played out, Purcell making a 79 and Carter an 85.

The summaries: First Round—Max R. Marston, beat Dwight Part, Jr., 3 up and 2 to play; John N. Stearns 3d, Princeton, beat J. L. Lord, Sleepy Hollow, 4 and 3; Percy R. Pyne 2d, Princeton, beat C. E. Van Vleet, Jr., 3 up and 2 to play; W. F. Purcell, New York Golf, beat C. E. Van Vleet, Jr., 3 up and 2 to play; W. F. Purcell, New York Golf, beat C. E. Van Vleet, Jr., 3 up and 2 to play.

Second Round—Marston beat Part, Jr., 3 up and 2 to play; Stearns beat Pyne, 4 and 3; Purcell beat Carter, 3 up and 2 to play; Van Vleet beat Lewis, 3 up and 2 to play.

Third Round—Marston beat Part, Jr., 3 up and 2 to play; Stearns beat Pyne, 4 and 3; Purcell beat Carter, 3 up and 2 to play; Van Vleet beat Lewis, 3 up and 2 to play.
